The Association has adopted a standardised procedure for the nomination of Academicians to ensure transparency and democracy. We advertise annually via our Newsletter – Regions and via our email distribution service for nominations from the membership and wider community. Nominations are then discussed by a sub-group of the officers of the Association’s Board and finally papers are prepared for decision by the full Board of the Association.

4) Justification for nomination

The Academy's criteria are designed to help us identify outstanding social scientists worthy of election as Academicians. Your efforts to provide information appropriate to the contributions and achievement of this nominee is greatly appreciated. We recognise that scholarly and practitioner endeavour varies from person to person, and across the various parts of the social sciences. You are therefore encouraged to provide the data you think is appropriate to justify and support the nomination in relation to each of our three criteria. Evidence for each is essential.
